

What if...?

Analytical thinking

Agenda

- Discussion: Decision-making scenarios
- Grammar: Second conditional
- Language: Collocations related to decision-making

Grammar

Hypothetical questions

- We use the second conditional to talk about imaginary, unlikely or hypothetical situations in the present or future.

If + past simple, ... would + base verb

- What if others kept moving while you paused?
- What if you couldn't control how far back?
- What if the maid started stealing things from your house?
- What if the chef could only cook vegan food?

Conditional answers

- As well as if, we can use other words to connect two related ideas in a conditional sentence.
 - I'd be happy with a vegan chef as long as the meals were delicious.
 - I would accept a vegan chef provided/providing (that) the food was healthy and varied.
 - Supposing that they could adapt traditional dishes into vegan versions, I'd keep the chef.
 - I would keep the chef on condition that they also prepared desserts I enjoy.
 - I'd keep the chef if and only if I could still eat meat or fish occasionally outside the house.

Focus on language

- | | |
|-------------------------------|---|
| 1. make a tough call | A. a quick, impulsive decision without much thought |
| 2. weigh up the pros and cons | B. a quick, impulsive decision without much thought |
| 3. come to a decision | C. choosing the less harmful of two bad options. |
| 4. sit on the fence | D. to avoid making a decision or commitment. |
| 5. a snap decision | E. a decision that will lead to either success or failure |
| 6. the lesser of two evils | F. to consider all aspects of something before deciding. |
| 7. make-or-break decision | G. to reach a conclusion or make a choice. |
| 8. think something through | H. to make a difficult decision. |
| | I. to carefully consider different choices before deciding. |

<https://wordwall.net/play/79335/625/817>

Lektor

That's all, folks!

